Anti-Saloon League Sawing

TALK OF BOARD OF CONTROL

New Method of City Government
Being Advocated by Many Petersburg Citizens.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
PETERSBURG, VA., July 5.—The statement recently made by a prominent Petersburg member of the Anti-Saloon League that the league would soon make a startling announcement regarding the candidates for the Democratic nomination to the State Senate in this senatorial district, is being very generally discussed in this city, and seems to have produced the opinion that the promised sensation will consist of an announcement that the league will officially support John R. Doyle, of Dinwiddie county, the opponent of the Petersburg candidate, Charles T. Lassiter. This supposition has not yet been confirmed by the local Anti-Saloon League men, who are strictly non-committal on the subject, saying that their statement will be made in a few days. So far as is known, Mr. Doyle has made no announcement, except that of government in Petersburg to that of government by a commission or board of control is being advocated by a number of conservative citizens. The recent adoption by the City Council of an ordinance creating a committee on charter and reforms, who shall report to that body from time to time on amendments to the city charter and ordinances, suggests the possibility of such a change.

The police are investigating a robbery at the A. and E. Lunch Rooms, which occurred Wednesday night, or early Thursday morning. The house had been opened for business when Mr. Vaughan arose, but there were no indications that any one had entered or left the building during the night.

RESULT OF EXAMINATION.

Superintendent Graham Receives Report—S. Out of 12 White Teachers Pass.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BOYDTON, VA., July 5.—Superintendent of Schools S. L. Graham has just received the returns from the examination papers for Mecklenburg from State Examiner J. S. Thomas, third circuit, for the May examination, which is a very creditable showing for the white teachers. Out of the twelve examined eight passed. Three colored teachers out of fifteen passed. Those of the white who passed are Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9 and 12. The colored who passed are Nos. 1, 7 and 11.

A second examination will be held the last of this month, but under the rules of the State Board of Examiners, a teacher who fails at the May examination is permitted to take the July examination, unless in the meantime they attend some summer institute, but as the returns from the examination papers are so late in being made, the State Board will give an opportunity to attend any institute in time, as it is now only a little over three weeks before the examinations will be held all over the State. So it would seem that those who failed in the May examinations will be ruled out altogether by teachers for the coming school term.

GOOCHLAND COUNTY JAIL.
It Was from Here That Two Negro Prisoners Escaped Recently, Who Have Not Been Captured.

NOT COMPLAINING OF COUNTY JAIL

Denied at Goochland That Petition to Judge Grimsley Is Being Circulated.

KNOWS NOTHING OF IT
Judge Grimsley Has Not Heard of Escape Even, Except Through Newspapers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GOOCHLAND C. H., VA., July 5.—Considerable surprise was expressed here this evening over reports which apparently originated in Richmond that judges were signing a petition to Judge D. A. Grimsley, asking that the recent escape of two negroes from the jail here be investigated. No one at the courthouse had heard even of the existence of such a paper, and not one would believe it. It is true that the supervisors have offered a reward of $200 for the capture of the men. The implication in an afternoon paper that Sheriff Crouch was not as prompt and vigorous as might be in his efforts to capture the negroes is also indignant.

Judge Grimsley, who lives at Culpeper, was communicated with, and replied that he had heard nothing of any complaint on the part of the citizens regarding Goochland jail, and knew nothing of the escape of the prisoners except what he had seen in the papers and learned through one private letter.

Mr. Ben T. Barrett, of this city, has written a letter to Judge D. A. Grimsley, of Culpeper, calling his Honor's attention to the recent escape of William Freeman and Eugie Johnson from the Goochland county jail, and alleging that the officers have not made diligent efforts to recapture them.

Freeman was captured by a Richmond detective agency some time ago, and the trial resulted in a hung jury. He, along with the other negro, Eugie Johnson, who was indicted for murder, escaped from the county jail at Goochland Courthouse on the night of June 25th. The county has offered a reward of $200 for the recapture of the prisoners, and this amount has been supplemented with $50 from private sources. Commonwealth's Attorney A. X. Monteiro has written Governor Swanson requesting that His Excellency further supplement the amount, and the Governor will take up the request upon his return to the city.

Sheriff Crouch's View.
No one seems to be charging that the officers of Goochland county were derelict in their duty in providing against the escape of the negroes, but it is intimated that they have probably not exerted their best efforts to recapture them.

Sheriff W. M. Crouch, who is a veteran handler of prisoners, says that no efforts have been spared to apprehend the negroes, and that if it is possible to do so, they will be run down. It is said that the locks were broken from the outside, and this is taken as almost, if not quite, conclusive evidence that the negroes had the co-operation of confederates from within.

There is hardly a more convenient place in Virginia for such work than Goochland Courthouse, as only a few persons reside there, and the jail is far removed from any of the residences.

May Never Be Caught.
The alleged firebug was at large for a long time after the commission of the crime, in which a splendid barn of Dr. Barrett was destroyed. Mr. Isaac Diggs, of this city, has been assisting Mr. Ben T. Barrett in the latter's efforts to convict the negro. They have law offices together in this city, and have spent a great deal of time in working on the case.

It is the opinion of many that protesting by this narrow escape from death or life imprisonment, Freeman has left Goochland county, and will never be caught.

Slayer of Senor Balmaceda Acquitted on the Unwritten Law.

BETRAYED PRISONER'S SISTER

All Parties to the Affair Were Prominent in European Diplomatic Circles.

BRUSSELS, July 5.—Carlos Waddington, son of Louis Waddington, who was charged d'affaires of Chile at Brussels, was to-day acquitted of the charge of murdering Senor Balmaceda, secretary of the Chilean legation, on February 24, 1906.

Balmaceda was engaged to be married to Carlos Waddington's sister, and on the morning of February 24th called on Mrs. Waddington and announced his decision to withdraw from the marriage, admitting, was charged, that he had behaved improperly toward Mrs. Waddington, but accusing the young woman of having misbehaved before he met her. When Carlos found his mother prostrated as a result of her interview with Balmaceda he drove to the home of the latter, and after a quarrel shot and killed him. The Balmaceda family contended that the Waddingtons tried to force the marriage upon young Balmaceda, and that upon his refusal they resolved to get rid of him.

Never before in all Belgium has a lawyer so passionately excoriated the character of a girl young enough to be his daughter as did Special Counsel Bonneville in his final argument for the prosecution. According to Maitre Bonneville, Mlle. Waddington was a modern Phryne.

Audience Grooms at Bonneville.

The audience frequently groaned while Bonneville was vivisectioning the character of the prisoner's sister, who sat below. The prisoner was deeply touched by his sister's grief, but refrained from crying out at Bonneville, as he did on previous days.

A strange and impressive incident occurred. While Maitre Bonneville was presenting the virtues of Balmaceda and the wickedness of Mlle. Waddington a white pigeon fluttered in at the open window of the courtroom. Bonneville was first, a dove, then a dove, then a pigeon flew in the fifth time and settled on the couch exhibited as that whereon Balmaceda sat when Waddington shot him; the superstitious audience became highly nervous, and this reached a culmination when a man exclaimed: "It is the sign of Balmaceda!"

For a moment there was a dead silence and then the cry of relief as the fluttering bird flew out of the window. Bonneville then resumed his summing up, but the pigeon incident had marred the pathos of his peroration.

Crime One of Premeditation.

Throughout his speech Bonneville endeavored to convince the court that Waddington had not murdered Balmaceda in the sudden heat of passion upon learning of his sister's degradation, but that he had premeditated the murder days before the crime.

When Bonneville concluded his hand or voice applauded the long argument, which was characterized throughout by extraordinary bitterness against the prisoner and his sister.

Maitre Servais, the public prosecutor, summed up the case. Servais declared the chief question was whether Balmaceda's murder was justified by the Belgian laws and the code of morals.

"The defense," Servais continued, "alleges that it was voluntary homicide with the full intention of slaying, but justified by great provocation and an invincible impulse which the prisoner could not resist. The law admits two conditions under which a man may be irresponsible—insanity and the domination of an irresistible passion."

Servais asserted that it was his belief that the charge of premeditation had been proved. He dismissed the case for insanity contemptuously.

"We may admit," he said, "that Waddington underwent a severe mental strain and that false notions of honor existed in his young mind, but human life is sacred. Although his zeal for his sister's and family's honor is pardonable, that cannot be accepted as an excuse for murder." The public prosecutor's speech was also interrupted by the flying in of the white pigeon, which then fluttered out with something in its beak.
